

Beginning Music Theory

In this course students will cover basic beginning music theory concepts, including note reading and writing, the staves, basic keyboard layout, major and minor scales and chords, rhythm, tempo, and time signatures. This course is geared towards those who have little to no musical background and/or music theory experience.

Students need to provide their own notation/staff paper, pencil, Alfred's adult all-in-one course piano book (or a similar book).
